McREYNOLDS IS ACQUITTED IN ASSAULT CASE

Jury Returned Verdict This Morning; Faces Robbery Charge

After deliberating since 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the jury in the William McReynolds assault case, came into the Circuit Court at 9:50 o'clock this morning with a verdict of not guilty. William Spangler of South Dixon, foreman of the jury passed the verdict to Circuit Clerk Edwin S. Rosecrans, who read it open court. McReynolds had been brought into court by Chief Deputy Fred Richardson and remained in the courtroom until the verdict was read.

Immediately after dismissing the twelve men who composed the jury, Judge Edwards remanded McReynolds back to the county jail where he is to await trial for the robbery of the Horton garage, which took place a short time before Clarence Shultz, night attendant at the Newman Brothers Riverview garage, was brutally assaulted and almost beaten to death, for which act McReynolds stood trial this week.

The jury was locked up when they returned from lunch yesterday afternoon and deliberated until 6 o'clock last evening when they were taken to dinner. Returning to their rooms they again considered the case until shortly after 12 o'clock when they were permitted to retire for the night. They were taken to the Nachusa Tavern where they spent the remainder of the night and resumed their consideration of the testimony this morning. About 8:30 word was sent to Judge Edwards that the jury would be ready to report about 9:30. Judge Edwards was called upon to perform a marriage ceremony in his chambers at that hour and it was about 9:50 when the jury walked into the court room with its verdict.

The reliability of the testimony of Investigator Ralph Russell working out of the sheriff's office, who testified to having obtained the confession from McReynolds in the county jail, where Russell spent two days with the defendant, was said to have influenced the jury in its verdict. Russell, upon cross examination that he told untruths to McReynolds for the purpose of securing the information which he sought.

The jury was composed of William H. Spangler, South Dixon, foreman; Fred J. Bettendorf, China; Ralph Smith, Dixon; T. C. Hayes, Ambury; W. E. Olsson, Harmon; Harry Andes, Alto; John H. Eden, Wyoming; William Branson, East Grove; Theodore Burhenn, Nachusa; John E. Bodmer, Wyoming; Eddie Quest, Maytown; Roy A. Shoemaker, China.

Government Paper Calibrator Stolen

New York, Jan. 31—(AP)—A machine invaluable to the United States government but worthless to the thief who stole it, was being sought by the police today.

The machine is a Schopper paper calibrator, the only one in this country, and is the property of the United States Bureau of Standards which uses it to test all paper used for currency.

Encased in a wooden box, 14 inches square and 3 inches high, the machine was stolen from the automobile of H. C. Schneidewind, a representative of Louis Schopper, the inventor, who had borrowed it from the government to make paper tests at a Maine mill.

New Racket Result Of Money Shortage

Chicago, Jan. 31—(AP)—Out of Chicago's money shortage has been born a new racket—the sale of city licenses at half price.

The two men who conceived this method of getting money without working for it were arrested after they tried it on a restaurant at Michigan Avenue and 119th Street. They told him they were city employees who the city was unable to pay. "For that reason, we have permission to get our money by selling you a city cigarette license at half price."

The proposition sounded fishy to the restaurant keeper, who called police.

"Is your name Oscar Burton Michaels?"

"What business is it of yours if they are?"

"Well, this is your brother Guy. Where have you been for the last 31 years?"

Mendota Preacher Is In County Jail at Ottawa, Ill.

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 31—(AP)—Arraignment of Rev. James A. Wilson, 60-year-old pastor of the Mendota Ill., Methodist church, on preliminary charges of attempted murder, today awaited word of the condition of Amos Elliott, church janitor, shot and wounded by the pastor.

Wilson wounded Elliott and his wife in a dispute Wednesday at the Elliott home in Mendota; then, he returned to his home and attempted suicide.

Although the wounds of none of the three at first were regarded as serious, State's Attorney Russell O. Hanson of LaSalle County said today that Elliott's condition was worse and that arraignment on the formal charges filed yesterday would be held up pending a report from Elliott's physician.

Regardless of the outcome of the preliminary hearing, the State's Attorney said he would bring the case before the grand jury.

Details of the letter, written by Wilson to Mrs. John Wagner, 50, a widow in his congregation and obtained by Elliott, were made public by State's Attorney Hanson. It was Wilson's demand of this letter from Elliott that resulted in the shooting.

Vague as to the subject matter, the letter in part followed:

"This asks your forgiveness. The matter has worried me more than anything else in my life. I have made a mistake."

"I wouldn't have been human if I had not and I won't be right with my God until you forgive me. I have gone to Chicago to see a physician. While there I intended to end it all but couldn't face my Maker without your forgiveness."

It was signed "Wilson."

Removed from the Mendota hospital, Wilson was in the county jail; his two scalp wounds were not serious.

FIND AVIATOR'S HELMET, GLOVES IN PLANE WRECK

Searchers For Bodies Of American Pilots Are Encouraged

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 31—(AP)—Encouraged at finding an aviator's helmet and a pair of gloves, searchers digging in the snow and ice 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia, for the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland went on with their task today.

The helmet and gloves, unearthed from the ice-strewn wreckage of the Eielson plane, were identified yesterday as those used by Borland. No trace of the bodies was found but the searchers still were convinced that Eielson and Borland died in the wreckage last November 9.

Seven men were dispatched to the scene of the wreck from the Nanuk to begin digging away the ice and hard packed snow which all but covered the wreck. Two more men were taken to the scene yesterday from the Russ supply ship Stavropol which also is locked in the ice at North Cape. The firmness of the ice and snow has made it impossible to rush the searching operations.

RUSS PLANES MISSING

Moscow, Jan. 31—(UP)—Two Soviet airplanes from Providence Bay, piloted by the Aviators Slepoff and Galishnev, should have reached the scene of Capt. Carl Ben Eielson's crash in northern Siberia today, but no word has yet been received from them.

Meanwhile, parties of natives organized under the direction of Captain Milovzorov of the Stavropol, will continue search for the bodies of the missing Americans.

DIXON MAN IS TAKEN AT COLE CITY LAST EVE

Gerald Bothwell Wanted On Charge Preferred Here

Gerald E. Bothwell of this city was arrested late yesterday afternoon at Cole City, Ill., where he was traced by Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber, and was ordered held until officers from Dixon could arrive to take him in custody. Chief Van Bibber and Sheriff Ward T. Miller left this morning for Cole City to bring Bothwell back to Dixon to answer to a charge of selling mortgaged property. It was also indicated that other charges might be preferred against him.

Bothwell was taken in custody by the police Wednesday for questioning and was taken to the office of the State's Attorney. After a brief examination he was released without charges being preferred, but it was understood that he should report at the police station at 5 o'clock in the evening to be questioned further by Chief Van Bibber. When he failed to appear Wednesday evening, Chief Van Bibber learned that Bothwell had shaken the dust of Dixon from his feet.

Woman Also Held.

Mrs. Zona Steele, alias Miller, alias Bothwell, who was sent to the county jail Wednesday evening in default of bonds on charges of disposing of mortgaged property, had been living with Bothwell in Dementtown. The couple were arrested last spring by Sheriff Miller when they were found to be living together in the southeast part of the city. At that time, the woman's husband came to Dixon and complained of conditions. Bothwell was fined and Mrs. Miller, as she was then known, promised to return to her husband. Her sister, several years younger, whom she had brought to Dixon, returned to her parents in southern Illinois. Mrs. Miller obtained a divorce in the Circuit Court two weeks ago, charging drunkenness as her reason for seeking separation. She had been living in Dixon for several months.

When Bothwell failed to report for further questioning Wednesday evening, Chief Van Bibber started another investigation and learned that he had left Dixon hurriedly for Cole City. The chief communicated with a constable, the only officer he could find in Cole City and was successful in bringing about the arrest and apprehension of Bothwell.

The founding of the Anglo-Swiss condensed milk factory in Dixon by Mr. Page was one of the important factors in Dixon's early day progress and development.

Capital Has Biggest Snow Fall In 8 Years

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Washington's heaviest snowfall in eight years found the Capital's residents eager today to believe the weatherman's promise of fair weather and rising temperatures.

The snow, which had fallen continuously since before midnight, ceased by dusk yesterday and the let-up was welcomed by the hundreds of men working with plows, scrapers and shovels to clear the streets. The mercury, however, started on a downward course, ran well below the freezing mark.

Sleigh bells jingled on Pennsylvania Avenue last night, as some of the children of the children their enjoyment of the big show.

Eight years ago this week, a 28-inch snow caved in the roof of the Knickerbocker moving picture theatre with a loss of 88 lines.

PARTY NIGHT OF SLAYINGS IS ONLY CLUE

New Lead in Murders Of Taxi Official and His Driver

Chicago, Jan. 31—(AP)—A party at the home of Robert McLaughlin, president of the Checker Cab Company, 15 minutes before the company treasurer, Barney Mitchell, and a company driver, George Jackson, were killed early yesterday, has given detectives a new but meagre lead in their investigation of the double slaying.

Everyone at the party is to be questioned. McLaughlin himself was still missing early today. Police believe he may have gone into hiding, fearing death. The two men were found shot to death in Jackson's cab in Rogers Park early yesterday.

Police entered McLaughlin's home last night with a pass key. It was unattended, but signs of the party were apparent. The living rooms were in disorder, with glasses and dishes as they had been left by the guests.

Secretary Missing

Next door to McLaughlin's house is the home of Max Raimann, secretary of the company. No one was home there last night when police called, but the place blazed with lights. Neighbors said the lights had been burning all day. Raimann was one of the party. Other guests included Harry Gordon, vice president, and Samuel Weinschenker of the legal staff.

The party was held in observance of McLaughlin's birthday and also of the tenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell. Just before party time, however, Mitchell telephoned his wife, suggesting that she remain home as he would not reach the party until late. Mrs. Mitchell wanted to go ahead, with her husband joining the party when he could, but Mitchell vetoed this.

When the party broke up, Mitchell phoned for a cab from Raimann's home, and Jackson's cab answered.

Carefully Planned

Mitchell entered the cab alone, police were told. Ten blocks away he and Jackson were killed. The slaying of Mitchell, detectives are sure, was premeditated and carefully planned. Jackson was shot to make certain there would be no living witness to the crime. The double shooting was done from inside the cab, a circumstance that has added to the mystery.

Police early today issued a bulletin calling for the arrest of Robert Schmidt, known as "Frisco Dutch," Schmidt, with Eugene (Red) McLaughlin, was tried and acquitted of the slaying of Joseph Wokral, former president of the cab company and the man Red McLaughlin's brother, Robert, succeeded, Wokral's dying statement named Schmidt and Red McLaughlin as his attackers.

Roche Has Scheme To Stop Bombings

Chicago, Jan. 31—(AP)—The State's Attorney John A. Swanson, has been presented by his special investigator, Pat Roche, with a plan for eliminating bombings from the county's catalogue of crime.

The plan, reduced to its essentials calls for the closing of every speakeasy and gambling place in Chicago. Roche does not believe the plan as difficult as it sounds.

Word would be passed along that every place must be closed. The grand jury would stand by to give prompt action against any owners, police or politicians who attempted to oppose the cleanup campaign.

Sixty-Fifth Bomb In Street Car Strike

New Orleans, Jan. 31—(AP)—The sixty fifth bombing of New Orleans street cars tore the floor boards from a trolley last night and shattered its windows. Mrs. Angelina Mazon, 55, suffered from shock but three other passengers and the crew of the car were unhurt.

The dynamiting was similar to the other trolley explosions which have occurred intermittently since a strike of motormen and conductors last July. The car rolled over a bomb placed between the rails at a street intersection.

And That Big Bozo Really Drinks Tea!

Beyond a doubt big Primo Carnera enjoys posing for photographers as much as any prize fighter ever did and this Italian exhibits his "freakiness" in Chicago, where his next bout will be staged. To the strains of "Kiss Me Again" Primo and Bull Montana, famous strong man, wrestler and movie actor, have "tea for two" in the Sherman Hotel (upper left). Below, Primo is pictured with his managers, Leon See (left), European manager, and Bill Huff, (right), American representative. At the right from his perch on the huge Italian's knee, Nick Lucas croons and strums the latest song hits.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH
TO HONOR BISHOP
AT FUNERAL HOUR

Requiem Holy Eucharist
To Be Celebrated
Tomorrow Morn

The Most Reverend Charles P. Anderson, D. D., Presiding Bishop of the Church and Bishop of the Diocese of Chicago, passed to life eternal at 8:30 A. M. on Thursday, Jan. 30. The funeral is to be held in Saint James' Cathedral on Saturday, at 10:30 A. M. At the same hour there will be a special Memorial Service in Saint Luke's Church, conducted by Father Talbot and Father Whitcomb. The service will be a requiem celebration of the Holy Eucharist. It is to be hoped that a great many of Saint Luke's people will come to the church for this service to pay honor to their Bishop and pray for the repose of his soul.

Chicago, Jan. 31—(AP)—Until 9 o'clock tonight, the body of the late Bishop Charles P. Anderson of the Episcopal church, who died yesterday after a week's attack of heart disease, will lie in state in St. James' Cathedral, the Diocesan church.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow, marked with the simplicity the Primate requested.

In the meantime, meetings to select a successor as Bishop of Chicago and Primate of the Council of Bishops of the church in America are being planned.

The Church News Bureau said today that the 93rd annual convention of the diocese will be held at the Cathedral next Tuesday and Wednesday. It was at this meeting that Bishop Anderson suggested a Coadjutor Bishop should be elected to succeed him upon death or resignation.

Simple Funeral.
It will be necessary now, however, to elect a Diocesan Bishop.

Bishop William A. Leonard of Cleveland, Senior of the Council, has indicated the meeting to select a new Primate will be held in either Chicago or St. Louis. Laws of the church require this meeting to be called within two months after the Primate's death.

Bishop Anderson will be buried under a simple altar in the chapel here erected in his honor at the Western Theological Seminary at Evanston, the Diocesan committee announced today. Following the funeral services tomorrow the body will be temporarily laid in a vault at Rosehill Cemetery, and final commitment will probably occur on Feb. 24, thirtieth anniversary of the day set for the dedication of the chapel.

The pall-bearers will be clergymen whom Bishop Anderson ordained. The Revs. Edward S. White, Charles L. Street, William Simms, Walter C. Bibler, Hugh MacWhorter, John Scambler, Norman B. Quigg and W. B. Stoskopf. A group of leading clergymen and prominent laymen will act as honorary pall-bearers. A number of Bishops and church leaders from all parts of the country are expected to attend the services.

Plans Of Conference
Sidetracked For Time
London, Jan. 31—(AP)—Plans of the naval conference to let a special committee consider the two rival methods of measuring navies—global and categorical—were sidetracked today at least for the present.

Faced with an apparent hitch in the British effort to choose committee members to speak for both Great Britain and the Dominions, the full conference itself continued today with the work previously assigned the committee and decided to hold another meeting on the same subject Tuesday.

There was no indication the special committee plan had been officially abandoned but neither was there anything to show that arrangements had been made for it to function. Meantime the two British places on it remained unfilled.

The understanding after adjournment of today's session which lasted an hour was that the whole conference sitting as a committee of the whole probably will fully supersede the special committee.

MADAME NIGHTINGALE
(To Jenny Lind, the Swedish nightingale, who once called upon the poet, and found no one at home.)

NORTHERN Madame Nightingale
Grandmother said: She sings so true.
And if one summer's day it suits
Her we must hear, and see her, too.

And can a wish bring things to pass?
And can a dream so vital be?
I thought she came across the fields
And sang in yonder apple tree.

Grandfather said: Mark this, my boy,
Make not existence too severe.
Nightingales sing not every day,
And tones so beautiful are rare.

In dreams I touch her garden hedge,
Or see her looking in my door.
Behold, the tones so rare once heard,
Those tones ring out for evermore.

O northern Madame Nightingale,
I've told my boy this longing dim;
And if one summer day it suits,
Please come and sing a song to him.

For just one such a day I long,
When I could in this lowly vale
See you come truly through the fields,
To sing here, Madame Nightingale.

—Klaus Groth, in "Quickborn."
Translated from Plattdeutsch by E. M. Corden.

Wawokiye Club in Pleasant Meeting Tuesday at Lievans

The Wawokiye Club formerly known as the Kingdom Mt. Union Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Lievan of Nachusa.

A large group of friends and members were present.

After a most delicious scramble dinner the business meeting was called to order. The new president, Mrs. Johnson appointed committees for the coming year as follows: Mrs. Mrs. David Heagy, chairman of the program of the flower committee with Mrs. John Stanley and Mrs. Theodore Hintz as her assistants. It was decided that the club should send fruit and magazines to a young man now a patient at the Dixon hospital.

It was suggested by one of the members that since severe cold weather always brought hardships to some in every community a committee should be appointed to look up some poor families that might be in need of a little help during the continued cold weather. As the club is always ready to spread a little sunshine whenever possible a committee was appointed for that purpose.

One new member was taken into the club at this meeting. After the business for the day was disposed of the program committee took charge and a most enjoyable program consisting of games and music was given.

The guests departed thanking Mrs. Lievan for a most pleasant day spent at her lovely new home.

The club will meet again in two weeks. The program committee for the next time will be Mrs. Johnson. Chairman with Mrs. George Patterson and Mrs. Scott Lowery assisting.

Nellie Is Scheduled To Win From John

Chicago, Jan. 31.—(UP)—If the Maloney keep up their martial bouts Nellie is scheduled to win over John, four rounds to three.

The husband was handicapped by a court order allowing him to do battle, verbal or otherwise, only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. His wife can call him names or throw furniture at him the other four days a week and John must not talk or strike back.

Judge Harry A. Lewis figured out the solution. It sounded Utopian to the Maloney, estranged since 1906. She dropped a separate maintenance suit and he a cross bill.

Mary Garden Does Not Like the New Clothes; Is On Diet

Chicago, Jan. 31.—(UP)—The gracefully slender figure of Mary Garden, Chicago Civic Opera star, was explained as the result of saying "No, thank you," when the singer addressed an audience in the Illinois Women's Athletic Club here last night.

Miss Garden admitted she looked "positively atrocious" in 1913 when she weighed 148 pounds but the club women applauded the result of saying "no" to fattening foods. They saw a tall, graceful woman, weighing about 120 pounds.

"When I get through with my operatic career," Miss Garden said, "I am going to a little house I have on top of a mountain and eat everything I want to."

The noted singer took opportunity to condemn the new styles, both verbally and by example. Her dress of gray lace was short in front and it was obvious there was no corset underneath.

"The new clothes are frightful," she said. "They are too tight. I've never worn corsets in my life and I never shall, style or no style."

"Big League Night" At Elks Club a Delightful Affair

"Big League Night," at the Elks club proved a great success last evening. The chicken banquet served at 6:30 was a most delicious repast and well served. There were about three hundred in attendance.

After the banquet Axel Christenson, a Redpath Lyceum entertainer held the attention of all for over an hour, with his pianologues and jokes. He is an excellent after dinner entertainer. Then the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and cards. All attending Big League night report it one of the most successful and enjoyable yet held, and the members of the committee in charge are to be congratulated.

WE NEED TO BE JARRED.
It is announced at Washington that the unemployment crisis has passed. The country is "out of the woods" says a high government official; all of us may breathe more easily now.

Just the same, there are occasional bad spots that have not yet been wiped up. Your daily paper gives you hints about them. They are worth thinking about.

The other morning there were two such hints in the daily news report.

In Chicago, at the peak of a sharp cold wave, a woman was found sitting by an empty stove in the barren kitchen of the house she called home. There was no fuel in the house. The stove contained no fire. The woman had frozen to death.

In Cleveland a man was released from jail after being acquitted of a charge of embezzling money from his former employers. He returned home to find his family destitute. Gas had been shut off because the gas bill was unpaid. The youngest child had pneumonia and was being cared for by a neighbor. There was nothing for the rest to eat and no way for them to keep warm. A welfare organization refused to extend any help because the breadwinner was out of jail now and could do his part; but the breadwinner could not get a job.

Now those two little items, quite unrelated, are not, of course, enough in themselves to refute the government's optimistic reports about the unemployment situation. Such things will happen even when times are booming. But they are rather terrible, even so.

It is terrible that a woman can freeze to death, in her own house, in the middle of the second city of the nation.

It is terrible that a strong, capable man who wants to remain idle and watch his family slowly succumb to cold and hunger in a great industrial city of a million inhabitants.

These things are not anybody's fault. They are not matters that concern any presidential unemployment conference. They simply happen, that's all; in good times and in bad, in prosperity and in depression, there are always some spots that are dark, cold and utterly horrible.

What can we do about them? Not a great deal, except open our hearts and resolve that we will be, after all, our brothers' keepers. For efficiency is not enough and never will be. Such things will continue to happen until all of us make up our minds that we cannot be snug and well-fed and contented unless our neighbors are the same way, too; until we reach the point where an unknown stranger's misery is our own misery, too.

That day is a long way off. We are still fairly selfish and indifferent. And that is why it is good for us to read of these incidents. Every time a news story of this kind jars our complacency and comfort, it moves us a little bit nearer to the era of brotherhood.

THE TRAGEDY OF A MISTAKE.
No tragedy in years has been more startling than the one reported recently from Athens, where 40 children were blinded when attendants in an eye clinic injected a powerful acid into their eyes by mistake.

"By mistake"—those two words are what makes this tragedy especially poignant. One can imagine the youngsters, going to the clinic to have their eyes tested, some of them gaily expecting to be relieved of defects that had hampered their sight—suddenly, inexplicably, made blind for life.

A simple mistake can cause more misery in this world than outright malice. The world has grown so complicated that a mistake can be frightful in its consequences. The tools that we use have sharp edges. Misused, they can be more dangerous than anything less civilized ages ever knew.

A woman lecturer in New York talked for two hours without referring to her notes, says a news dispatch. The newsy part of that is that she did it in public.

It's true the streets are getting wider and the sidewalks narrower. But then the number of pedestrians is being speedily reduced to fit.

Mr. Coolidge may be able to write a history of the United States in 500 words, but Al Smith could say that much about the last couple of Republican administrations without taking a breath.

Radio sets have been installed in cells of several prisons. Next thing you know they'll be putting men on the rack again.

Isn't it remarkable how the coroner can discover with such unerring regularity that a suicide who shot himself in the head died of a gunshot wound?

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The crow kept eating seeds until it seemed that he had had his fill. "Oh, my, but they are good," said he. "I'm sorry I must stop. I know 't would be a heap of fun to eat up every single one, but then I'd be so full I'm sure that I would simply drop."

"You know, of course, it isn't right to eat and eat with all your might. Take my advice and never do a silly thing like that. Why, I have eaten too much now. I'll have to take a nap somehow. I guess I'll snooze upon this flower. It's something like a mat."

Then, as the crow flopped down to sleep, it said, "I wish that you would keep close watch on me and wake when an hour or so has passed. Then I'll get up and feel all right and promptly fly right out of sight. It doesn't take me long to go 'cause I can fly real fast."

An hour passed by. Then Clowdy said, "Wake up! Wake up! You sleepy head. We've guarded you for oh, so long, and you are safe and sound. Now, will you do a favor please? It's something you can do with ease. Just help us find a way that we can get down to the ground."

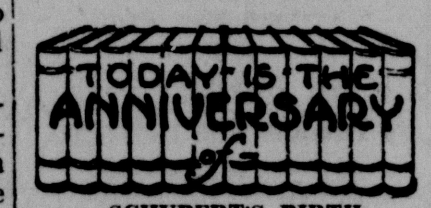

"Well, let me see," the bird replied. "I guess that you all want a ride. Say, I am hardly big enough to take you on my back. I might start off, but then I fear you'd wish that you were all back here. Your weight would surely make me drop and we would land kersmack!"

"Aw, shucks," said Clowdy. "You're afraid." A sudden jerk the big crow made and grabbed poor Clowdy in his bill. "You shouted, 'You will find that you can't ridicule a crow. I have you now, and off we go!' I took poor Clowdy into air and left the rest behind."

The Tinymites take after the crow in the next story.

SCHUBERT'S BIRTH
On January 31, 1797, Franz Schubert, the famous composer of music, was born in a small suburb of Vienna.

He received his musical instruction early, and, with the fundamentals of the violin mastered at the age of eight, he studied thereafter by himself. From that time on he devoted almost all his time to composing. "I write all day," he told a friend, "and when I have finished one piece I begin another."

The extent of his talents may be better appreciated when it is realized that he produced some of his most important compositions before he was 20 years old.

Reduced to poverty because publishers refused to accept his works on the score they were too difficult and the composer unknown, Schubert was sustained by loyal friends.

Had it not been for a famous baritone and noted pianist of his time who performed his works, Schubert might have died without the slightest knowledge of their success. Schubert died when only 32 from typhoid fever, and was buried near Beethoven's grave.

TAX ON INCOMES URGED AS RELIEF FOR THE FARMERS

Lowden Says Property Tax Is Unjust And
Urges Reform

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 31—(AP)—Declaring that the plight of the American Farmer presents one of the most pressing economic problems of today, former Governor Frank O. Lowden in an address last night advocated sweeping changes in taxing systems and a broader application of co-operative selling plans as partial solutions of the problems.

The former Illinois Governor pointed out that a decline has gripped practically every branch of business and industry in the country. He indicated that this condition is one of the results of a depressed state of the agricultural industry.

"Within the past few weeks statements have been made by responsible persons which lead the public to think that the farmers' troubles are largely a thing of the past," Mr. Lowden said. "I have been curious to learn just what ground there is for these optimistic statements."

Can't Deny Hard Times

"In my opinion, it is unfortunate for this opinion to go abroad. It is not a pleasant task for me to say this. I would rather paint the picture in roseate hues. We shall not, however, in my opinion, obtain good times for the farmer in the future by denying the hard times which press him now."

"While I am on the subject," continued Illinois' war-time governor, "I want to say a word about the present business depression in which we find ourselves. The financial writers as a whole have assigned various causes for this. Strange to say, however, few of them have listed the agricultural depression which have been upon us for several years. This omission I cannot explain."

"In the modern business world, the various industries are so inter-related and inter-dependent, that an injury to one is an injury to all. Representatives of agricultural interests for years have been sounding a warning that unless prosperity can be brought to the farm, the prosperity of all other classes would be imperiled. I have insisted for years that the problems confronting agriculture are equally the problems of all classes, if they had but the vision to see it."

"Isn't it possible that the industries of the country in their strenuous efforts to develop a foreign market, have overlooked a market at home vastly more worth while?" questioned Mr. Lowden. "There are some of the leading manufacturers who are of this opinion."

"The farmer finds himself in a situation in which the cost of everything he has to buy has increased out of all proportion to the price of things he has to sell. Some way must be found to lessen this disparity."

Organization Progress

"Most students have thought that the first step towards this was organization of the farmers themselves, so as to give them a bargaining power of those with whom they deal," the speaker continued. "Organizations for this purpose among farmers have made considerable progress."

The former governor then explained that these co-operative organizations had been able in many cases to control surpluses and thus raise prices to a high level. He asserted, however, that the expense of operating the co-operatives should be shared by all of the farmers. Under the present system while all farmers obtain the advantage from the co-operatives, only a few contribute to their support.

"What is needed above everything else is a frank recognition of the facts as to the agricultural situation and a new attitude by our people generally toward agriculture," Mr. Lowden said. "We shall then find unnumbered ways which will help to restore the proper balance between agriculture and industry."

"There is one measure of relief, however, upon which the representative organizations of business and farmers agree. I refer to the subject of taxes."

Property Tax Unjust

"In a simpler society the general property tax was perhaps as just a method of taxation as could be employed. Most property was viable to the eye of the assessor and could be properly listed. In our earlier days ability to pay taxes was associated with property in some form."

"Today, however, we are living in another world," the mid-western agone were thousands of blacksmiths and carpenters and masons, all engaged in little businesses of their own, we today have great centralized industrial plants and powerful construction companies which have absorbed the independent individuals and partnership operators of earlier times. The result is that an ever-increasing part of our national income is absorbed in salaries, wages, commissions and fees."

As a result of this trend, ownership of property is no longer a satisfactory test of ability to pay taxes, the former governor contended. He cited the case of Illinois in which tangible property receives only 10 per cent of the total income of the state and yet pays over 96 per cent of all taxes.

"While the general property tax unduly burdens all real estate, it bears especially heavy upon farm lands," Mr. Lowden said. "For it is agreed among economists that it is much easier to shift taxes levied upon improvement than it is taxes upon the land itself."

Tax on Incomes

"The only alternative to the general property tax is a tax upon incomes. In the complex civilization which we have evolved there is no other test of ability to pay so just and equitable as the income of the citizen."

"One objection to the income tax raised is that it adds another tax to those already in existence. To overcome this objection it should be made clear, I think, that the purpose of the income tax is not to add another tax, but to substitute a juster method, more in accord with ability to pay, for the present ineffective, unjust and discriminatory general property tax."

In closing his address former Governor Lowden challenged economic theory that the food of the world must be produced by farmers of the peasant type. He argued that new forces have been growing throughout the entire world changing the lowly status of the farmer above, and giving him a place of prominence in the industrial life of the world.

Daily Health Talk

TRY TO AVOID MEASLES

By Herbert N. Barnett, M. D.
Director of the Bureau of Child Hygiene.

Texas State Department of Health
(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Parents are prone to consider measles rather lightly and sometimes laugh at the "pink spots" and swollen eyes of sister and little brother. Yet measles is really one of the most serious diseases of childhood, not only in its immediate effects, but in the after effects. The common after effects consist of permanent injury to eyes and ears. In some cases the ears become so involved as to necessitate a mastoid operation.

Measles is very infectious and easily spread from an infected person to a well person. Measles begins with symptoms of a common cold, running nose and watery eyes, accompanied by a little cough. The rash appears from two to five days later. It is infectious from the very beginning of the symptoms of a cold and until the rash and all cold symptoms are gone. This usually covers a period of about two weeks. After a child has been in contact with a case of measles in the cold or rash stage, he may continue in school for eight days and then should stay out of school for one week. The reason of this is that a child who has been exposed to measles is likely to develop the disease from the eighth to the sixteenth day. He may then return to school if no measles have developed. It is a serious matter for any parent to send to school a child with a head cold when measles is prevalent in the community.

When measles break out in a school it is not necessary to close the school. Children who have had colds or sore throat and who have not had measles should not be permitted to attend school, and parents will do well to keep a child at home if he has a cold that might develop into measles. Formerly it was thought that measles was mild and insignificant and that all children should have it. But this is not true. There are two simple rules that will help avoid it by preventing transference of secretions from the mouth and nose of one child to another.

Rule 1.

When you cough or sneeze bow your head or put a handkerchief over your mouth and nose.

Rule 2.

Don't put into your mouth fingers, pencils or anything that does not belong there, or use a common drinking cup.

Juror Talked Too Much: Is Dismissed

Hillsboro, Ill., Jan. 30—(AP)—Because he talked too much, Emil Beal, a railroad worker of Farmersville, today was dismissed as a juror in the murder trial of Mrs. Mary Lockard of Nokomis, held for killing her estranged husband, October 20.

Circuit Judge Jeff called Beal before him and confronted him with a report from Charles O. Hood, a Hillsboro barber, that Beal had expressed a decided opinion that Mrs. Lockard had no right to kill her husband.

The jury had already been completed but the Judge accepted a motion that Beal be withdrawn. A new panel of eight men was called, from which to choose a juror to replace Beal.

Mrs. Lockard is charged with shooting her husband, a Nokomis coal miner, in a drunken brawl following a quarrel. Lockard charged her with the shooting in a signed statement just before he died. Mrs.

Lockard admitted it, but said she acted in self defense.

Springfield Doctor Made Hall's Helper

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30—(AP)—Dr. A. C. Baxter of Springfield today was appointed Assistant Director of the Department of Public Health by Governor L. L. Emmerson to succeed Dr. Thomas H. Leonard, who resigned recently to enter the health service of California.

Doctor Baxter started his professional career in 1907 in the State Health Department but left the health service to take up private practice here. He has also been Superintendent of the bee department of the State Fair for 25 years and from the point of service is the oldest man connected with the State Fair management.

Railroad Traffic Tied Up By Blaze

Pana, Ill., Jan. 30—(UP)—Fire believed to have been caused by a defective flue caused damage estimated at $40,000 to a railroad tower here early today. The blaze flamed by a brisk wind baffled firemen for 10 hours before they finally succeeded in getting it under control.

The tower is the basis of operation for seventy five switches for four important railroad lines running into this city. The lines are: Illinois Central, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and The Chicago & Eastern Illinois.

Conductor Killed In Missouri Wreck

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Jan. 30—(AP)—The conductor of a Missouri Pacific passenger train was killed near Dexter Junction shortly after 1 o'clock this morning when Cotton Belt passenger train No. 2 crashed into the rear end of the freight train. The freight train had stopped to repair a defective carrying-iron.

Some trainmen expressed the belief that the dead conductor, C. H. Helligman of Duplo, Ill., had gone to sleep while waiting for the repairs to be made. His body was removed before the carcass, which was telescoped, caught fire and was destroyed.

Several persons on the passenger train were reported shaken up, but none was injured seriously.

Both trains were going north. The accident occurred near the scene of a similar accident about a year ago. J. S. Gourley of Duplo, rear brakeman on the freight train, told investigators that he left Helligman to flag the rear of the train while he went to repair the carry-iron.

Silk Manufacturers Had Lobby Budget

Washington, Jan. 30.—(U.P.)—The American Silk Association, composed of silk manufacturers and importers, has an annual budget of about $200,000. Horace B. Cheney, chairman of the association's legislative committee, told the Senate Lobby investigating committee today.

Cheney was questioned at length about evidence that he had recommended that his associates make their fight for a silk tariff before House and Senate conferees rather than on the floor of the Senate.

Tomorrow we'll explain the mistakes and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

THURSDAY'S CORRECTIONS

(1) A monkey, instead of a baboon, is in the cage; baboons have short tails. (2) Hippopotamus is spelled incorrectly. (3) The hippopotamus, in the strict sense, is not an amphibian. (4) The diacresis should be over the second "o" in zoology. (5) The scrambled word is PERMANENT.

SURPRISING HOW GLY-CAS TOOK HOLD HIS STUBBORN CASE

Gly-Cas Brings Immediate Relief from Chronic Stomach and Bowel Trouble Which Would Not Yield to Other Medicines.

Statement after statement, from widely known and highly respected people all over this country and other countries, is coming in every day in praise of the new Gly-Cas and its remarkable effect on even the most severe cases of rheumatism, neuritis, stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles which proves it is entirely different from any medicine introduced here before. One of the most recent remarkable statements received is that of Mr. Ed Vezain, 703 E. Joliet St., Ottawa, Illinois.

"There certainly is a foundation for the talk and recommendation of Gly-Cas for the good this Gly-Cas is doing for people suffering from stomach and bowel disorders," said Mr. Vezain. "For over fifteen years I spent considerable time and money, doctoring with first one medicine or treatment and then another with very little success. As the time went on my condition became chronic and caused me to suffer continually. Everything I ate caused me distress and with a bowel disorder my whole system was affected. Many times the terrific pains in my stomach and bowels would nearly double me up."

"Two months ago I began taking Gly-Cas and it is actually surprising what it has done for me in this short time. It reached my case from the very beginning and continued to better my condition until now I am in better health than I have been for years. Gly-Cas has regulated my whole system and my bowels act regularly now. I can eat anything I want without the least distress afterwards. From my own experience I can say it far more than an ordinary medicine, it is no wonder there are so many people endorsing it. If a person wants a medicine to put them back on their feet again with good health then I say take this Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, 501 Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Aschenbrenner; Drug, Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

OBITUARY

MRS. W. E. TREIN
Olive Morgan Cochran was a daughter of the late Frank and Flora Katherine Petrie Cochran, long well known residents of Sterling, where she was born and lived until her marriage to William E. Trein of Dixon, Nov. 22, 1927. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Gorman Richards, former pastor of the Sterling Presbyterian church, at his manse in Rogers Park, where he served as pastor of the Presbyterian church after leaving Sterling.

After finishing her courses in the Sterling Central school and high school, she took up the study of painting in oil and water color, first taking lessons from Mrs. Grace Boynton Hamm, who was then a well known Sterling artist and who is now Mrs. Ellis Logan of Washington, D. C., leader of the fine arts department of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's clubs. After her lessons under Mrs. Hamm she later studied at the Art Institute, Chicago, and for a time was a designer and colorist in the Williams art novelty studio in Sterling. She had charge of the interior decorating and art department of the Howell-Page store in Dixon before her marriage to Mr. Trein.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Trein is survived by a step-son, Stanwood Trein, aged 14, one sister, Mrs. Clara Pitney, wife of Frank Pitney of Chicago, and one brother, William P. Cochran of Sterling. In addition to other relatives she leaves a multitude of friends in Sterling and in Dixon, who are deeply grieved by her untimely passing.

During her girlhood and young womanhood in Sterling, Mrs. Trein was always socially popular. She was endowed with graces of personality, gifts of mind and talents that won her the esteem and admiration of all who knew her. She was a member of the Sterling Presbyterian church and was identified with several clubs and organizations of the community. The admirable qualities that made her so popular in Sterling were quickly recognized by her associates in Dixon, where she was held in the highest regard by all who knew her.

The concern awakened by Mrs. Trein's illness will give way to sympathy for her husband, sister and brother among the many friends who share their sorrow in the city of her birth, where she will be remembered as one of the most attractive and charming young women of her generation.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing house, married her employer ALTHUR KNIGHT, who is a widower with a daughter TONY, 16, in Paris and a son JUNIOR, 18, a school.

A honeymoon in Bermuda is interrupted by a cablegram from Tony to her mother. The girl leaves her stepmother later she tells Judith she must leave the house. Knight overheard and compels Tony to apologize.

ANDY CRAIG, a young man Knight had helped through college, calls on Tony. Craig is employed in the local department of the publishing house. On evening when Tony refuses to accompany him to a dog show, Judith goes, only alone with her father. He is disappointed and Judith whom Craig came to see, Knight denies this angrily.

Tony surprises Judith by asking her to lunch. Craig will be next day Judith keeps the appointment and is met by Andy Craig, who explains Tony's absence to meet her. The two are together when Tony arrives. She is grateful enough to make Judith's and Craig's protests seem insignificant. After Knight has explained to her father, she explains to Tony that she cannot see her.

After a brief visitation after Knight arrives home. He tells Judith they are to entertain a group of his business associates next week at a theater party. Judith buys a beautiful gown for the occasion. Arthur says he is it. The party is given and the theater party proves a success. When Judith and Arthur reach home after 3 a. m. a call comes from Craig. He says he is in a New York police station charged with reckless driving. Craig brings his father home and Tony pours out her wrath upon Judith.

The girl is quiet and rebellious for two days. She and her father quarrel. Affairs reach such a state that Judith appeals to Andy Craig. He agrees to help her together but later Judith denies to her husband that she spent the afternoon in town with the boy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVI

THE minute after she had spoken Judith felt uneasy. She thought (or was it imagination?) that Arthur's eyes, meeting hers in a swift instant, held reproach.

Silence came between them. Knight's gaze returned to his news paper and Judith watched him covertly as she lay back among the divan's pillows.

"Arthur," she said presently "tell me about today at the office. Did you get the Turner contract signed?"

"Not yet," came the answer. Arthur Knight did not lower the newspaper and he spoke as a man engrossed in important matters. He continued reading. Throughout the rest of that evening Knight's part in the conversation was nothing more than terse answering of questions.

Judith was uncomfortable. An open magazine lay in her lap. She looked down at it from time to time but the rows of type might as well have been invisible. Arthur had always reserved the hours following dinner for carefree relaxed discussion of the day's events. He liked to hear how his wife had been spending the day, details of the household affairs which she had a way of turning into amusing anecdotes. He had confided plans and details of many a business venture and because she had spent those months in the offices of the big firm, Judith was an understanding audience.

These hours together had seemed the best part of the day to Judith ever since coming to her new home. Tonight all this was changed.

Could Arthur possibly know? Judith darted another glance toward the newspaper. That was all she could see of her husband just a bit of dark hair protruding above the top of the evening newspaper. No, she didn't think he could now about her chat with Andrew and she didn't think he could object to her doing just the same. Judith felt guilty. The pink in her cheeks (which would come when she was agitated) showed this time.

"But it wasn't a lie—really!" she assured herself. True she had not at home all afternoon since turning from her luncheon engagement with Andy Craig. She had repeatedly to convince herself at she had not been guilty of falsehood. Of course, after names worked out, she could tell the whole story. If she said anything now about Tony and Andy, she was afraid Arthur would spoil all.

She was very sure her plans were undisturbed. Arthur's aloofness and his strange manner of sight were the first flaw.

Judith turned to the radio for entertainment, found that the merry tips of Broadway entertainers and the mellow music of old operas were usually a bore. After nearly an hour of this she arose.

"I'm going upstairs, Arthur," she said. "Will you be coming soon?"

"After while."

It was after a considerable while that Arthur Knight came aside the paper he had been reading. The fire in the grate was dying lower, the soft blaze and the glow of the parchment-shaded lamp behind him were the room's only illumination.

For several minutes Knight watched the flames in the fireplace. Then he leaned back in his chair, closed his eyes and sat perfectly quiet. When his eyelids lifted the man's face was a perfect mask for his emotions.

He arose like a man thoroughly tired and went up the stairway.

IN the morning Judith's fears were all forgotten. She and Arthur breakfasted together. He seemed, if anything, a little more affectionate than usual as he kissed her goodby and departed for the day.

She hummed a half-remembered tune happily as she went about the morning's routine. Great things were expected to take place this day. Andy Craig had promised to use his influence to bring Tony to reason and Judith relied implicitly upon Andy.

As she had for the past three days, Tony Knight took her breakfast and luncheon in her own room. Harriet carried the tray of covered dishes and dainty china up the stairway and they came down empty.

"Miss Tony seems to be feeling better today, ma'am," the maid said. "Yes, I think she'll be much better soon," Judith said.

Even without Andy's connivance Judith was sure that Arthur Knight's rebellious young daughter would be tiring soon of her self imposed seclusion and would seek companionship. Three days with out her usual diversions must have been very trying to Tony.

At noon there came a telephone message for Judith.

"Hello," she answered eagerly. "This is Mrs. Knight."

"Judith? It's Andy. Well—I can't report much luck."

"What's happened?"

"Why, I telephoned half an hour ago. Tried to get Tony to promise to go somewhere with me tonight. Her answer wasn't exactly complimentary."

Impassable. Some roads have not had a vehicle of any kind over them in two weeks.

With the Cagers

Chicago, Jan. 31—(AP)—Charlie Murphy of Loyola today had a mathematical decision over Charlie Murphy of Purdue, but his team's remarkable string of basketball triumphs was broken.

Fulfilling all advance notices the contest last night at LaFayette, Ind., was the bitterest of struggles and resulted in a 25 to 20 victory for Purdue, with an overtime period necessary to bring a verdict. The defeat was Loyola's first in 35 starts, ending the winning streak started late in the 1928 season.

Loyola Charlie Murphy outscored his rival and namesake from Purdue nine points to five, but his mate failed to perform as consistently as the aids of Purdue Charlie. The Murphys were responsible for the overtime period, for with 30 seconds to play Loyola Charlie was fouled while the act of shooting by Murphy of Purdue, and made one of his two free throws to tie the score at 20 all. In the extra session Purdue easily distanced the Ramblers.

With the feature piece of the week a Western Conference triumph, Michigan and Chicago will meet tonight in strictly Big Nine business. The Wolverines will invade the midway seeking their second victory of the week, which would give them a tie with Illinois for third place Michigan, although unimpressive in defeating Minnesota Monday night was favored to hand Chicago its fourth straight conference setback.

Ohio State may face Minnesota at Minneapolis tomorrow night without the services of Wesley Fesler, its star guard. Fesler was injured when the Buckeyes defeated Minnesota last Saturday night at Columbus, and was not expected to be in shape to play in the return engagement. Hinchman, substitute forward, will be in Fesler's place if the latter is unable to play.

Woman Ready For Western Dog Derby

Tahoe, Cal., Jan. 31—(AP)—A stalwart young Idaho woman, undaunted by the opposition of a field of seven men and a boy, was ready to lead the way in the running of the three-day 90-mile second annual Tahoe Sierra dog derby.

Mrs. Thula Geelan of McCall, Idaho, winner of the "post position," will be the lone woman racer when the entrants line up this afternoon for the trek over the snows between here and Truckee.

Four late withdrawals cut the field to nine. Included in the missing list was Lydia "Whistlin' Lyd" Hutchinson of Ashton, Idaho, who dropped out because of illness. Death of five of "Scotty" Allan's malemates through accidental poisoning, and death of another beneath the runners of a sleigh forced the withdrawal of the noted Alaskan "musheer" and also of his son, George.

Cash prizes totaling $4,000 and the Marco Hellman trophy will go to the winners.

Lightweights Hold Sway In The Garden

New York, Jan. 31—(AP)—Lightweights hold sway in Madison Square Garden tonight as Al Singer, 135-pounder from the Bronx, takes on rugged Stanislaus Loayza of Chile in a ten round bout.

Rated by some critics as the man most likely to remove the lightweight crown from Sammy Mandell's head, Singer has been established a 2 to 1 favorite over Loayza.

EXPECT CARNERA TO PUT ELZEAR RIOUX TO SLEEP

Chicago Fight Fans To Get Glimpse Of Big Italian Tonight

BY WILLIAM WEEKES

Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago, Jan. 31—(AP)—The formal unveiling of Primo Carnera before a Chicago assemblage will occur tonight in the Stadium, with Elzear Rioux, French-Canadian heavy-weight, acting as the other party in the ceremony.

Ballyhooed as the biggest fighter since Jess Willard, the man-mountain from Italy has created tremendous interest among Chicago boxing enthusiasts, and arrangements today were being made to accommodate 18,000 spectators, or about $60,000 worth, for the 10 round engagement.

Of the approximate 490 pounds of bone and muscle heaped into the ring tonight, Primo will furnish 270, giving him an edge of about 60 pounds over the French-Canadian. He also will have an advantage of three inches in height, four inches in reach, and several sizes in shoes. Beyond the physical advantages, Carnera will be the popular favorite; no one outside of Rioux himself, believes the latter has a chance of remaining upright any longer than did Big Boy Peterson, whom Primo flattened in less than a round, in New York last week when he made his American premier.

Rioux was confident he not only would be on his feet at the end of the tenth round, but believed he had a chance of outpointing the huge Italian. He claims to have knocked a bear silly with his right hand, and does not think Primo is tougher than a bear. However, he took a lacing from Hein Mueller, clever German heavyweight, in his last Chicago appearance, showing little except ability to absorb punishment.

If Carnera does as the trade expects and quickly stops Rioux, the spectators still will have the King Tut-Bruce Flowers semi-final 10-rounder to look at. Tut, rugged Minneapolis puncher, and the New Rochelle Negro lightweight fought a great draw here several weeks ago, and were rematched by request.

The pair were signed when Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, was forced to call off his bout with Pete Zivic of Pittsburgh, because of an infected tooth. Joe Medill, Chicago lightweight, and Spug Myers of Pocatello, Idaho, will meet in the 10-round semi-final.

Three Killed, Four Buried By Explosion

Ashland, Ky., Jan. 30—(AP)—Three men were killed and four were buried under tons of rock by a premature explosion of a charge of dynamite at the city limits here today. All were members of a railroad construction gang on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

The bodies of Beech A. Wellman, Charles Scott and a man whose last name was Conley were removed from the debris shortly after the blast. Rescue crews said it may be hours before the other men are reached, as they are buried under a huge mass of rock and earth. Rescuers said there was little hope of the four being alive.

The men were engaged in "shoot-down" a cliff along the railroad when the premature explosion occurred.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene. Police and firemen, assisted by volunteers and railroad employees assisted in the rescue work.

Coast Guard Busy On Florida Coast

Washington, Jan. 30—(UP)—While the prohibition debate in Congress continues to hold major attention the U. S. Coast Guard is quietly pursuing a relentless warfare against rum runners in West Indian waters off the Florida Keys.

Within the past two months the Coast Guard has seized about one dozen craft in Florida waters. Commander Charles S. Root, Chief of Coast Guard Intelligence, said today. He cited this as evidence the Coast Guard is making headway in preventing liquor smuggling from the West Indian islands. In past "boom" years, dozens of small craft have been seized in a similar period.
